

THE AUSTRALASIAN COLLEGE OF DERMATOLOGISTS

Rural Dermatology

WEEKEND MEETING

Beyond the City Limits: Dermatology in Rural and Remote Australia

Program

CLARE COUNTRY CLUB, CLARE VALLEY, SOUTH AUSTRALIA
FRIDAY 24 OCTOBER TO SUNDAY 26 OCTOBER 2014

President's Welcome

I am delighted to welcome all delegates to the fourth Rural Dermatology Meeting of College.

This meeting serves several special purposes. Firstly, it focuses on the important objective of providing dermatological services to rural and remote regions of Australia. Also, in ensuring that dermatology registrars have experience of rural practice and encouraging them to consider careers in rural areas, upon completion of their training. It also enables consideration of important workforce issues; and the sharing of experiences in clinical cases of rural dermatology.

Most importantly, it encourages collegiality and professional contact amongst rural practitioners, many of whom are in remote situations. It also includes city-based dermatologists who undertake rural rotations.

With declining health services in rural and remote areas, inadequate funding of indigenous health care, an ageing rural population and a shortage of rural specialists, rural dermatology faces enormous challenges. This meeting will examine the issues and consider the options.

I wish to thank our sponsors who are listed in this program, for their generous support.

I commend the meeting and look forward to your deliberations.

Stephen Shumack, OAM, FACD, FAICD
President
Australasian College of Dermatologists

Program

The meeting program has been organised by Dr Hoang Ly, FACD, South Australia. Dr Ly is supported by the Rural and Regional Services Committee of College and by the South Australian Faculty.

INVITED SPEAKERS

The College is honoured that the following local, distinguished specialists, have agreed to participate in the conference:

Dr Roger Sexton

Dr Sexton studied medicine at the University of Adelaide. After internship at The Queen Elizabeth Hospital in 1978, he studied obstetrics and gynaecology in the West Midlands in the United Kingdom before returning to Adelaide to study paediatrics and anaesthetics, in preparation for his future work in rural general practice at Mt Pleasant where he served the local communities for 29 years.

His clinical work currently includes work as a rural locum, urban and after-hours general practice and executive health. He is a clinical skills tutor at Adelaide University Medical School. He is a medical consultant to Workcover SA.

In addition to his clinical work, Dr Sexton has a keen and enduring interest in doctors' health and has been very involved in the establishment of the innovative Dr DOC Program for rural GPs across South Australia in 2000 and the doctors' health program Doctors' Health SA in 2011.

The opportunity to make a positive difference to professional life drew him to become a member of the AMA (SA) Council in 2008 and the federal AMACGP in 2009.

He has been the immediate past Presiding Member of the Medical Board of SA and a member of the Pharmaceutical Benefits Advisory Committee. He is currently a director of the Board of national medical indemnity provider MIGA and also the National Prescribing Service.
